Touchscreen Is Music to the Ears

The new Q100 Digital Music Entertainment (DME) System from California-based Qsonix is a music-management system that employs a "drag-and-drop" graphical user interface (GUI) that is designed to allow users to easily manage their complete music collections. The system is capable of storing up to 7,500 CDs, and through the GUI, dealers or users can set up playlists based on their listening preferences. Qsonix offers the system with a 15-inch LCD touchscreen control panel and a choice of two hard drive sizes: 160GB or 400GB.
